SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1881.

The Gun Club.

Since the reorganization of the Gun club it is in a more flourishing condition than ever. The members are taking an active interest in it and are practicing regularly every week. A range has been fitted up at Watson's ravine, a short distance up the river, 1,000 yards long, with a bank 25 feet high. A club house has been erected at the firing point and fitted up very comfortably with stove &c. The range is arranged for shooting at from 100 yards up to 1,000. We understand the club intends holding a large tournament in the spring, both for rifle teams and pigeon shooting, and that teams have already been selected from the membership to represent the Cheboygan club. The following members are to constitute the team for long range rifle shooting: C. R. Smith, W. S. Humphrey, Chas. J. Kitchen and Joseph Cochran. They all have the highest grade of Ballard rifles and are practicing regularly each week and are doing some fine shooting. The first day Messrs. Humphrey and Kitchen each made 44 out of a possible 50, at 600 yards. The second day W. S. Humphrey made 71, and C. J. Kitchen 69 out of a possible 75 at the same distance. The shot gun team for the tournament is to consist of the following members of the club: I. S. Cooper, H. H. Hodge, E. D. Sutherland, T. A. Perriu and John E. Ford. They are practicing regularly, once every week, shooting at clay pigeons, and all are doing excellent shooting; breaking from 7 to 9 pigeons out of 10, and the indications are, by spring, they will furnish any teams, that may enter the tournament against them, plenty of business to get away with them.

Failed to Pay.

Considerable excitement was created in our village this week by the failure of Paymaster Wilde to pay numerous bills due our merchants from contractors Hendrie & McDonald. We understand that the paymaster received a telegram from Mr. Hendrie to use what cash he had for paying the laborers and for other bills give drafts. The latter Mr. Wilde would not do, asking the creditors to await the arrival of another paymaster who would be here in a few days. This raised a suspicion among some of the creditors that everything was not right and attachments were issued at a lively rate and levies made up on all species of property that the contractors were supposed to have any interest in, one creditor attaching the money box of paymaster Wilde. How much wealth was secured with the box is not known. Some of the laborers who were employed by Mr. McDougal in getting out ties, failed to get their pay and a large number of attachments were issued on the ties that had been got out. Some of the largest creditors seem the least concerned, feeling confident that their claims will be paid in full. It is claimed that the railroad company have been holding back twenty per cent. of the contract price until such time as the road is completed by the contractors and accepted by the company and this, which would amount to a large sum, would afford Messrs. Hendrie & McDonald ample means to pay their creditors, to say nothing about the financial ability of the contractors personally.

Navigation Open.

From advices from all lake ports, as published in the daily papers, it would seem that navigation was wide open all over the lakes; at least that there is nothing to prevent all crafts from plying as usual were they so disposed. The Chicago Inter Ocean says the lumber receipts at that place, by lake, are about 3,500,000 feet daily and complains that the lights in the different lighthouses have been extinguished, and says the law expressly states that "the dates of discontinuing and relighting the lights will vary with seasons; but keepers will be careful to exhibit lights whenever of use to navigators." When the Lawrence made her trip here last week the lights were all out, causing her considerable delay in making her trip. At this port the river is as free of ice as in mid-summer, and the straits the same; while the weather of the past week or ten days has been the finest of any portion of the past two months.

Over the Road.

Monday afternoon Governor Jerome and staff and the directors of the Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette railroad left Detroit for a trip to Marquette to inspect the road. The party consisted of Governor Jerome, R. R. Commissioner Williams, James McMillan, Hugh McMillan, J. S. Newberry, Geo. Hendrie, W. B. Moran, H. B. Ledyard of the Michigan Central railroad, J. B. Muliken of the Detroit, Lansing and Northern, Wm. Hendrie and W. K. Muir. The party passed through here early Tuesday morning without stopping. At Mackinaw City they were delayed for a couple of hours waiting for the ferry Algonah. Superintendent McKeown had given orders to Capt. Kirby to await for him before leaving St. Ignace to meet the party at Mackinac City, and he was a little late getting around.

A grand ovation was given the party at St. Ignace and brief speeches were made by the Governor, James McMillan, Congressman Newberry and others. Leaving St. Ignace at 10:10 a. m. Thursday they reached Marquette at 6:48 that evening where they were ovated again. On the return the train left Marquette Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock and passed through here that evening without stopping.

Congregational Church.

The annual meeting of the Congregational church and society was held at the office of Geo. E. Frost Wednesday evening. Owing to the unpleasant evening the attendance was not as large as it otherwise would have been. The treasurers report showed the receipts from all sources for the year to have been $804.39. Disbursements $821.00. And the present indebtedness of the church to be about $275.

The following officers were elected, Trustees—to fill vacancy, vice Rollo, resigned—M. Chandler; for three years Wm. Vanderbilt and E. O. Penny.

Clerk and financial secretary—Geo. E. Frost, Treasurer—C. S. Ramsay.

Upon motion it was unanimously voted that a call be extended to the Rev. A. H. Lowrie to become pastor of the church.

Upon motion of Mr. Frost it was unanimously voted that a vote of thanks be tendered the Ladies Working Association for the new furnace for heating the church.

Upon motion of J. P. Sutton it was voted that the Trustees be requested to consider the matter of providing better ventilation for the church.

The Jeannette Heard From.

For a long time serious apprehensions have been felt in regard to the arctic exploring steamer Jeannette, fitted out by James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, and all hopes of ever hearing from her had been about given up, the conclusion being that she with all on board had been lost. The daily papers received in Thursday evening's mail however, brings the gratifying intelligence that she had been at last heard from and that at least the greater part of her ventures crew was safe although having passed through severe hardships and suffering.

The Jeannette left San Francisco, on her expedition in July 1879 and had not been heard from since Sept. of that year.

THE ENGINEER'S STORY.

Engineer Melville has telegraphed the American Legation at St. Petersburg that the Jeannette was surrounded and crushed by ice on June 23 in latitude 77 north, longitude 157 east. The crew left the vessel in three boats. About fifty miles from the mouth of the Lena they were separated by violent winds and thick fogs. Boat No. 3, commanded by Engineer Melville, arrived September 23 at the eastern mouth of the river Lena, where it was stopped by blocks of ice, near the village of Bolengga, inhabited by idolaters. Boat No. 1 reached the same spot. The occupants of these boats state that Lieut. DeLong and Dr. Ambler with twelve others, landed at the northern mouth of the Lena and that they are in.

Boat No. 2 had not been heard from but hopes are entertained that they were either picked up by Russian or native fishing boats or succeeded in reaching a place of safety at some other point as there were others equally accessible and quite as near as Lena. The two boats heard from contained about 25 men. As there were about forty, all told, on the Jeannette, the missing boat must have contained about 15 persons.

A little Ohio girl, making a contribution to the Garfield monument fund, addressed a quaint letter to "Mr. Committee," in which she said: "I am a little girl 7 years old, and I live five miles from Hiram, our dear President's former home. Now, my uncle Oscar, living in Cleveland, said I could not spell hippopotamus. He bet me a dollar. I won the bet. It is the first dollar I ever earned, and I would like you to please accept this as a token of love to our beloved President Garfield."

Dr. Isaac I. Hayes, the Arctic explorer, died of heart disease on Saturday, adding another name to the long list of sudden deaths of the year. Dr. Hayes was appointed surgeon of Dr. Kane's arctic expedition when only 21 years of age. He returned from that voyage convinced that there was an open polar sea, and in 1860 went northward in command of an expedition fitted out under his supervision. His discoveries and the theories he advanced in connection with them gave him great prominence. He had planned other voyages, but went into the Union army as a surgeon, and was not again in the arctic regions until 1872. He was a member of the New York Legislature from 1876 to 1880, and was among the most earnest Republicans of that body.

On Sunday the 11th inst. a seven-years-old boy was lost in the woods one mile west of Coleman, Isabella county, and at last accounts he was still missing. Most diligent search has been made, there being fully 50 men scouring the woods at one time. His tracks were found at a place 2½ miles from where he was last seen, but nothing more definite has yet been learned. The next day his cries were heard about a mile away from his home, but as they supposed it was a lynx or panther's voice no search was made. All hope of finding him alive has been abandoned, but his body was being sought for.
